Joining Clay - Step-by-Step Instructions

To join two peices of air drying clay you will need something to cut the clay with and some water.

1. Begin by cutting your clay and shaping it as needed.

Tip: Try not to handle the clay too much as this will dry it out.

2. Use a pop stick or something similar to rough up the edges that you want to join together.

3. Place the two pieces of clay together. Now, dip your finger into the water and use it to smooth over the edges of the clay, as seen below.
