

Organ and Tissue Donation Resource List

Use the following websites, factsheets and articles as a starting point for further research into the issue of organ and tissue donation rates in Australia.

Australian Organ and Tissue Authority: DonateLife

The Organ and Tissue Authority (OTA) works with states and territories, clinicians, the community sector and the general public to deliver the Australian Government's national program to improve organ and tissue donation and transplantation outcomes in Australia.

The DonateLife website has many useful pages and factsheets.

<https://register.donatelife.gov.au/>

Why is registration important?

https://donatelife.gov.au/sites/default/files/5_Why%20is%20registration%20important.pdf

National study of family experiences of organ and tissue donation

<https://donatelife.gov.au/sites/default/files/Updated%20OTA%20Donor%20Family%20Study%202010-11%20Wave%201%20Summary.pdf>

2017 Australian organ donation and transplantation activity report

<https://donatelife.gov.au/sites/default/files/2017%20Australian%20Donations%20and%20Transplantation%20Activity%20Report.pdf>

Waiting list information for Australia and New Zealand

2018 Waiting list information

<http://www.anzdata.org.au/anzod/v1/waitinglist2018.html>

Australian waiting list

http://www.anzdata.org.au/anzod/ANZODReport/2016/2016-anzod-12-waitinglist_v2.0_20170114.pdf

News Articles

Australia unlikely to follow opt-out organ donation policy

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2017-01-04/australia-unlikely-to-follow-opt-out-organ-donation-policy/8160718>

Organ donation – Should Australia adopt an opt-out system?

<https://ama.com.au/ausmed/organ-donation-%E2%80%93-should-australia-adopt-opt-out-system>

Spain the undisputed world leader in organ transplants

<https://www.thelocal.es/20180111/spain-is-the-undisputed-world-leader-in-organ-transplants>